Economic Development, Inc.

One Plaza East, Suite 501
P.O. Box 4700
Salisbury, MD 21803

To Our Members:

I am pleased to present this thirty-seventh annual report of the Salisbury-Wicomico Economic Development Corporation. The vision of business, government and community leaders working together for a strengthened local economy is as valid today as it was in 1968.

That vision, whereby our organization serves as a catalyst for economic growth, guided us throughout this past year.

We were pleased to assist the Wicomico County Airport Commission in helping Perdue Farms locate a new corporate hangar at the Air Business Center and in establishing a business incubator at the former airport terminal building. Our organization took a lead role in negotiations with developers as the Wicomico County Council approved the Tax Increment Finance plan to redevelop the Salisbury Mall property. We assisted Callidus in its "start-up", MaTech in its expansion, and retained Trinity Sterile, all resulting in the creation and retention of more than one hundred jobs. Working with the City of Salisbury and the City of Fruitland, SWED was instrumental in preparing an enterprise zone application for Salisbury's Westwood Commerce Park and the renewal of Fruitland's Enterprise Zone program.

It's been my pleasure and honor to serve as your President this past year and I look forward with optimism to the second year of my term. Thank you to all of our governmental supporters, businesses and the community at-large for your confidence and support of our organization. And as always, a special thank you to our staff for making our work seem easy.

Sincerely,

John M. Stern, Jr.

Our Strategy

In 1967, Chris-Craft Corporation announced its closing, eliminating hundreds of jobs in Wicomico County. Business and government leaders shortly thereafter created the Salisbury-Wicomico Economic Development Corporation in an effort to mitigate future plant closings while attracting new and diverse industries to our region. This activity reduces reliance on few companies or industries while providing new job opportunities for all citizens. Our focus is three-fold:

- 1) Business Retention/Expansion:
Most businesses derive seventy to eighty percent of revenue from existing customers. As a correlation, most new jobs in any community originate from resident businesses. A strong business base also helps to attract new firms to a growing area.
- 2) Business Attraction:
New and diverse businesses mitigate adverse effects of economic downturns, reduce reliance on a few firms, increase the taxable base, and add jobs. Ancillary or indirect benefits are as great, if not greater, than direct benefits.
- 3) Strengthen SWED:
Since its establishment in 1968, SWED has received financial and professional support from public and private sectors. Both sectors demonstrate an interest in economic development and both sectors possess unique resources. A combined public-private effort maximizes resources, leverages capital, and broadens expertise.

Director's Message

SWED completed its thirty-seventh year by furthering our charge of strengthening the local economy through the creation and preservation of productive jobs, nurturing a diverse economic base and serving as a catalyst for new opportunities.

We operated this past year in an economic environment characterized by moderate inflation, relatively low interest rates, strong demand for residential and commercial property and meaningful job growth. Historically, Wicomico's unemployment rate more closely tracks the national rate as opposed to the State of Maryland rate, which is widely recognized as one of the lowest in the nation. For the past several years and as the chart below illustrates, Wicomico's rate is on par with that of Maryland.

David Ryan
Executive Director

Source: Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation

The relatively low unemployment rate is attributable to an increase in jobs. From 2003 to 2004, Wicomico's labor force and job count grew by 3.7% and 4.4%, respectively. This is a continuation of a longer term trend whereby from 2001 through 2004, Wicomico's labor force and job count grew by 2.9% and 4.7%, respectively. While generally good news for those seeking jobs, a tighter labor market made it more difficult for firms seeking qualified employees. Most economic sectors gained jobs this past year including the manufacturing sector which was hard-hit during the 2000-2002 slowdown in the economy. The manufacturing job base in Wicomico County grew by 4.1% from 2003 through 2004.

Unfortunately, Helvoet Pharma and Nanticoke Foods closed locations this past year resulting in the loss of approximately one hundred jobs. Both Helvoet and Nanticoke, citing loss of business, consolidated operations to Pennsauken, N.J. and Cape May, N.J., respectively.

Early in our fiscal year, we were pleased to work with principals of Trinity Labs. The newly renamed company, Trinity Sterile, Inc. retained its location in Northwood Industrial Park and the fifty-five associates working at the company. Trinity Sterile manufactures various medical products including catheter insertion kits, instrument trays and bulb syringes.

We also helped Callidus, LLC begin operations and develop marketing initiatives. Callidus, a company began by two Salisbury University students, develops and distributes software for the sleep lab industry.

We were pleased to assist Machining Technologies, Inc. (MaTech) in its expansion. MaTech acquired the former 150,000 square foot Sealy plant in Northwood Industrial Park and plans to renovate and add an office component to the facility. In addition to site selection and assistance in permitting, SWED, along with the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development, provided funding through the SWED-Revolving Loan Fund and the Maryland Economic Development Assistance Authority and Fund, respectively. MaTech's acquisition reduces the industrial vacancy rate. Several years ago, Wicomico experienced a glut of industrial space (more than 1.3 million square feet) that was for sale and vacant. Today, using the same parameters, available space is 50,000 square feet.

Also in Northwood, sincere appreciation and congratulations is extended to Perdue Farms for their continued commitment to our community. Perdue renovated a former manufacturing facility into an Innovation Center, a research and development facility that employs approximately thirty-five associates.

In addition to this facility, Perdue Farms also began construction on a new corporate hangar at the Salisbury-Ocean City: Wicomico County Regional Airport. As requested by the Wicomico County

Efforts

Airport Commission, SWED assumed a lead role in locating a site for the hangar, the development of lease terms and assistance throughout the permitting process. The construction of this facility is the first in years in and around the Air Business Center and already, SWED and the Airport Commission have received additional inquiries regarding further development within the one hundred fifty acre business park.

Proactive

Creative

Also at the airport, SWED continued its pursuit of establishing a "business incubator" in the former airport terminal building. The goal is to provide relatively inexpensive space with flexible lease terms to new, expanding and technology-oriented companies. During this fiscal year, SWED, along with the Airport Commission was successful in securing renovation funds through Maryland's Community Development Block Grant program and through the Maryland Aviation Administration. The renovation is expected to be completed by the end of October and we continue to work with several prospects interested in locating to the facility.

The former Airport Terminal Building

In another redevelopment project and as requested by the Wicomico County Council, SWED accepted a lead role in working with developers of the Salisbury Mall property toward a Tax Increment Finance agreement. The County Council, along with the Salisbury City Council, approved the pact whereby bond proceeds will be used to fund public infrastructure improvements at the eighty acre site with the tax base of the resulting development servicing the bond indebtedness. The development, consisting of residential, commercial and office complexes, also affords Wicomico County additional land for parking associated with the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center and a potential hotel site to complement Civic Center events.

SWED was pleased to assist the City of Fruitland in completing and successfully renewing the city's existing Enterprise Zone. In addition, we helped the City of Salisbury prepare an Enterprise Zone application that encompasses the new Westwood Commerce Park, located at the intersection of Naylor Mill Road and U.S. Route 50. With light industrial zoning, Westwood offers additional land in a "campus-like" setting for expanding and new companies. We will pursue State approval of Salisbury's Enterprise Zone request early in 2006.

In partnership with Maryland's Department of Business and Economic Development, five companies utilized more than $70,600 in Partnership for Workforce Quality training funds, a state-sponsored program designed to improve business competitiveness by upgrading worker skills for new technologies and processes. Internally, we completely redesigned our web site and maintained our goal of updating the site on a daily basis. In addition, we responded to hundreds of requests for information from citizens, businesses, students, consultants, brokers and many others. More than one hundred twenty members and guests attended our annual meeting and heard Chris Low, a widely recognized and quoted economist with FTN Financial, review the current state of the economy and make various predictions for the coming months.

From a fiscal perspective, we remained prudent in our expenditures and operated within our budget. For the five years ending August 31, 2005, our budget has increased by 1.06%, or put another way, $2,085.

As we enter our thirty-eighth year, we are reminded that economic development is not a "once-in-a-while" endeavor, but rather a daily undertaking. We recognize that economic forces can overwhelm even the best of intentions. We understand that the value of our efforts is often realized in future years and we appreciate and value the numerous partnerships that we have forged over many years. With hard work, teamwork and vision, our achievements in the years to come will be meaningful and of value to our community.
